

Route Labels

This is a color scale that has been created for rating the difficulty of our problems. The “V” scale was designed for outdoor bouldering, which is very different from climbing indoors, so it makes sense to grade gym problems on a similar, yet different scale. Changing our indoor rating system to a less precise color scale also puts more climbs in your range and opens up new problems that you may not have been willing to try before. Enjoy!

V Scale Conversions

Vote the difficulty

Think a route is easier or harder than we rated it? Give us your opinion! Mark the route's label on the color that you think it is. Is it easier or harder than we rated it?

